What to pack in Vanuatu?

Sunscreen is a must, especially in Vanuatu where the sun is very strong. Consider packing a waterproof bag for your phone and valuables if you plan on swimming or snorkeling. If you enjoy reading, a waterproof book cover is a great addition to your beach bag.

How to choose a backpack for a Vanuatu trip?

When it comes to bags, you'll want to choose wisely for your Vanuatu adventure. Since you'll be exploring both bustling towns and pristine beaches, a versatile backpack is a must. Opt for one that's spacious enough to carry your essentials, yet comfortable to wear for long days of exploring.

Do you need a notebook in Vanuatu?

A small notebook and pen are always useful for jotting down notes, making lists, or capturing memories. Vanuatu is a cash-based society, so it's essential to have enough cash on hand for everyday expenses. While credit cards are accepted in larger hotels and restaurants, smaller establishments and local markets often prefer cash.

Do you need a tent in Vanuatu?

A small cooler bag is helpful for keeping snacks and drinks cool on the beach. Camping in Vanuatu can be an incredible way to experience the islands' natural beauty. A sturdy tent is a must, especially if you plan to camp near the coast where you might encounter some rain.
